

WEEK THREE

Hello Families,

We had a wonderful week. We started work cycle and I introduced work charts to the students. This week was our first run so there may not have been much on the work charts they brought home. Your child should have brought home their DWL's and their work charts from this week. Keep in mind this was our first week and it will take some adjusting to get used to the routine in our classroom.

I put the spelling words for level 4, 5 and 6 on the blog. I am working on getting level 7 on the blog as well, but it will take me about a week to finish these.

Thank you for sending back your children's planners back to school signed. Planners teach your children many wonderful things. Most importantly it teaches them how to be responsible. At the end of each school day I put a list of things we have done for the day on the board. If your child comes home without anything written in their planner please help them try to remember what they did that day, and remind them to write down the things I have listed on the board at the end of the day.

Remember we have a book report coming up soon. Please refer to our Book-report-schedule- \(1\) to see the future book reports and when they are due.

Don't forget the annual 5K is on September 14th. You can register at <http://mma5k.blogspot.com/>.

Thanks for being awesome parents,

Ms. Amy
