

Monday Montessori Moments

Monday May 2, 2016

A Message from the Director:

As we head into this time of the school year, our thoughts begin to take us to warm places, where we can laugh and relax. Our students are still working diligently to progress through the curriculum and make the most of the time they spend at school. Please remember that we are still in the midst of SAGE testing and to prepare your child with a good night's rest and a hearty breakfast to help ensure their most optimal testing experience. Obviously, learning doesn't stop when a student leaves school for the day or for the summer.

Keep in mind the following tips to continue high levels of learning during summer vacation:

1. Foster the expectation that summer is a time for learning. Ask your child what he/she would like to learn over the summer. It's also helpful if you are a role model for learning. Discuss with your children what you plan on learning this summer.
2. Encourage reading by providing your children with plenty of books that interest them. Use school summer reading lists and library grade-level reading suggestions. Visit the library often and check out special summer events.
3. Understand that any topic of interest to your child can be a source of learning.
4. Car trips can evolve into math or geography lessons. Instead of the perennial kid question: "Are we there yet?" ask your children to estimate and calculate the travel time to a destination.
5. For social studies learning, make day trips to local historical sites in your area,
6. Let your child calculate what the change should be at stores, restaurants, and activities that require admission fees.
7. Try word games, including board games, such as Scrabble, and crossword puzzles and Sudoku to build vocabulary. Experiences.
8. Sharpen your child's math skills by playing games with him or her that require computation, such as Monopoly or dominoes.
9. Don't overlook the kitchen as a wonderful learning lab.
10. Inspire your children to write about their summer learning experiences.

We are gearing up for our last round of Parent/Teacher conferences. Be sure to check your specific teacher's blog to sign up for a time slot. There are numerous end of the year festivities happening this month, be sure to take note of all these important dates in this newsletter. Lastly, I want to thank all of the individuals that have helped make this school year a success. Our volunteers go above and beyond and we, as a school community, are so grateful.

It's that time of year again that we get to...

APPRECIATE OUR TEACHERS!

May 2nd – May 6th

- MONDAY – To begin the week it's best to start it with a smile! And what better way than to give your teacher a hi5 or a hug! Let them know just how much you appreciate them!
- TUESDAY – Spring has sprung and the flowers smell so great and are so bright and happy! Pick a flower or draw a flower, and bring it to your teacher so we can make a bouquet to brighten up their day!
- WEDNESDAY – Let's make a memory! Draw a picture or make a sculpture, anything that you can think of to make for your teacher to look at and see how much you appreciate them!
- THURSDAY – It's Thirsty Thursday! Maybe find out your teacher's favorite drink and bring it to surprise them! Or grab a bottle of water or juice! But let's give them something to quench their thirst like they do ours for learning!
- No school FRIDAY! It's a perfect day to give our teachers a day off!

Calling All 5th Grade Parents!

It's time to get ready for your child's trip to the Alliance Redwoods forest! There will be a meeting on May 12th at 6:30 PM in the school library. This meeting will help you inform you of the first steps in preparing your student for their 6th Grade Field Trip.
